X MARKS THE SPOT

Sparks flew with excitement as Wiley X registered in a very positive way for 20/20 edit well over a decade ago. It was easy to relate to their commitment AND acceptance by the military as simple but assuredly high-performance eyewear with a definite sport agenda. There was also a definite focus on motorcycle and motorsport aficionados, and we still look back fondly on one of the most popular 20/20 magazine covers featuring NASCAR's Joey Logano supporting a terrific conversation feature.

The layers of advancement for the brand have multiplied greatly over the years with highlights being classy protective eyewear, a special agenda for younger fans of the brand and great advances both in features and style enhancements. We are proud to present TWO styles here acknowledging Wiley X and their partnership support of our ongoing devotion to the ultimate in Sport Eyewear.

WX CLIMB

ANSI Z87.1+ | RX READY | ACTIVE 6 | NEW

The WX Climb combines its popular rectangular lens shape with an ANSI safety rating for crystal-clear optical clarity and protection against high-mass and high-velocity impact. Built for rugged durability, a lightweight, high-wrap frame blocks unwanted peripheral light and makes for a comfortable, snug fit that stays put in active situations. Additionally, subtle design elements baked right into the temple arms add a touch of intrigue to the sporty presentation. Overall, the WX Climb is a powerful blend of protection, comfort, and fit, wrapped into one pair of sunglasses that's always ready for adventure. <https://www.wileyx.com/wx-climb>
